City of Wharton WCA Flood Advisory

Wharton, TX, August 27, 2017

Due to severe weather conditions, Waste Corporation of America (WCA) will not provide waste collection services tomorrow. The waste collection service will be suspended due to Hurricane Harvey and will not be made up or pushed to another service day. The City of Wharton apologizes for any inconvenience this might cause and asks that residents do not place garbage out for collection until further notice. The National Weather Service is now projecting the Colorado River could reach major flood stage early tomorrow morning with a possible crest of 50.4 feet. The City of Wharton is currently under a voluntary evacuation and is still urging all residents to please take heed of this warning. If you do decide to evacuate, go to www.drivetexas.org to see what roadways are open at this time.

If you have questions, please feel free to call 979-532-2491, calls will be answered 24 hours a day.

The City of Wharton will continue to monitor the situation. Please stay informed by tuning into local radio stations or television stations.
